Managing Aggregator Setup Overview

An aggregator profile is required for a UCDP lender who wants to have the ability to view appraisals shared by their correspondent lenders or correspondent lenders' authorized agents. As the lender admin, you are responsible for creating and managing the aggregator profile for your organization.

Once you have established business units for your organization, you may register for the aggregator profile. The aggregator profile set-up requires data entry on an aggregator name, a single Fannie Mae 5-digit Seller Number, and/or a single Freddie Mac Seller Number, City, and State. The information provided during the aggregator set-up will be available to your correspondent lenders when they share appraisals with your organization. Your correspondent lenders may not share appraisals with your organization through the UCDP until you complete the aggregator set-up.

For most organizations, establishing one aggregator profile under the primary business unit meets business needs. You can create only one aggregator profile under each business unit.

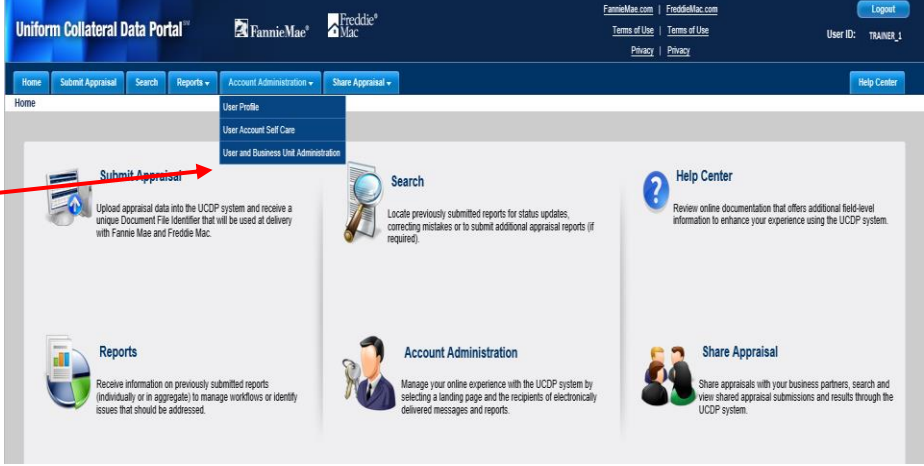

Individual users at the business unit level where the aggregator profile is created have read-only access to appraisals shared by their correspondent lenders.

In the event your organization requires additional aggregator profiles, the lender admin may register additional aggregators under the child business units.

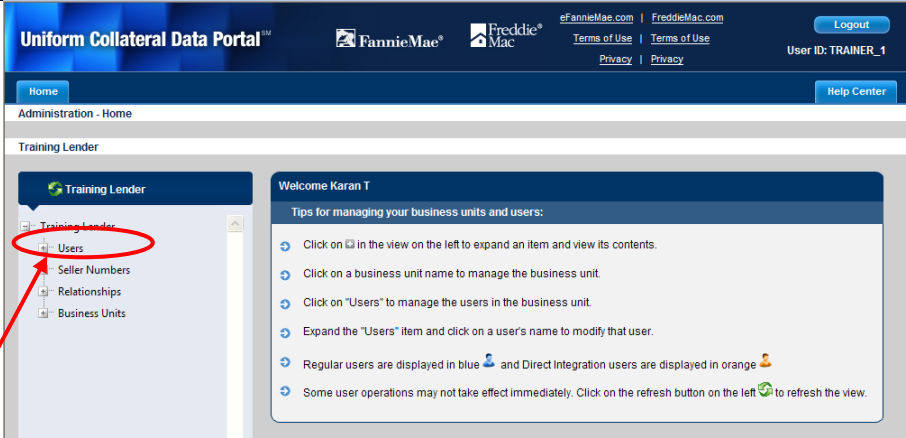

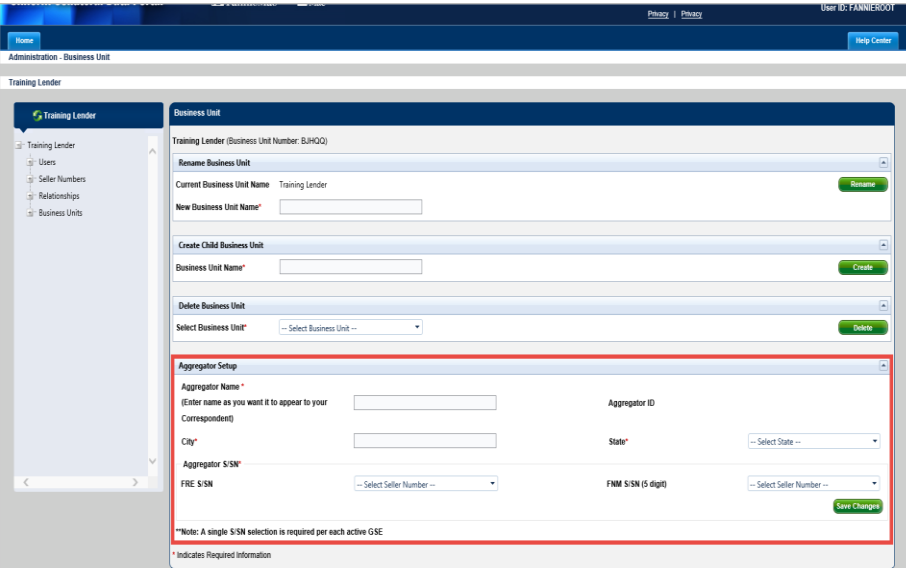

The functionality associated with an aggregator profile set up includes:

Functionality	Description
Creating an Aggregator	Enables you to create an aggregator profile so that your correspondent lenders may share appraisals with your organization.
Modifying an Aggregator	Enables you to modify an existing aggregator profile to meet current needs.

Creating an Aggregator	Creating an aggregator profile is the prerequisite for your correspondent lenders to share their appraisals with your organization. You can create only one aggregator profile under each business unit. For most organizations, establishing one aggregator profile under the primary business unit meets business needs. In the event your organization requires additional aggregator profiles, the lender admin may register additional aggregators under the child business units.  Although you may create additional aggregator profiles, you must select a FRE Seller Number and/or a FNM Seller Number (5-digit) that are not associated with any existing aggregator profile. Most organizations typically transact under one seller number for each GSE and may only set up one aggregator profile. To create an aggregator profile, follow these steps:

	After you click Save Changes, a confirmation message appears at the top of the screen and the Aggregator ID value is displayed within the Aggregator Setup section. The Aggregator ID is a system generated ID that uniquely identifies the aggregator profile. In the example below, the aggregator profile has been successfully created and an Aggregator ID has been generated. The Aggregator ID also appears next to the aggregator name in the confirmation message. Aggregator successfully created as Training Aggregator (PTB560)   Important: After the aggregator is successfully created, communicate the newly created aggregator name and aggregator ID to your correspondent lenders so they can start sharing appraisals with your organization.

Modifying an Aggregator	Modifying an existing aggregator profile provides a way to help meet changing business needs. When your organization makes organizational changes, you can use this functionality to align with those changes and update the aggregator name, city, state, or the selected S/SN.  Communicate any changes to your correspondent lenders so they can select the correct aggregator when sharing appraisals. To modify an existing aggregator profile, follow these steps:
