

ULDD Updates for the retirement of CMT-indexed ARMS

June 8, 2021

Freddie Mac and Fannie Mae (the GSEs) are providing an update to the Uniform Loan Delivery Dataset (ULDD) for the retirement of the Constant Maturity Treasury (CMT) indexed adjustable-rate mortgages (ARMs), as announced on February 3, 2021, under the guidance of the Federal Housing Finance Agency.

The GSEs will not purchase any CMT-indexed ARM with an Application Received Date of July 1, 2021, or later. In addition, the GSEs will no longer purchase CMT-indexed ARMs on and after October 1, 2021, regardless of the Application Received Date or Note Date.

Each GSE has updated its respective ULDD Appendix D - XML Data Requirements Reference Tool to remove CMT-indexed enumerations that are no longer supported by the GSEs effective on October 1, 2021.

CMT-Related ULDD Specification Updates

The ULDD Specification Appendix D has been updated to support this retirement as follows:

Fannie Mae

- Removed CMT-indexed enumerations from Index Source Type Other Description (Sort ID 111)

Freddie Mac

- Removed CMT-indexed enumerations from Index Source Type (Sort ID 110)

Additional Specification Updates

In addition to the CMT-indexed related changes described above, the following updates were made to the ULDD Specification Appendix D:

- Updated data point implementation notes and enumerations to align the specification with current business usage.
